

Emily Guerin | Producer and Reporter in San Francisco

emilyguerin.com | 207-798-9505 | emilyguerin@gmail.com

I have 10+ years of experience telling narrative and investigative stories in print, on the radio and in serialized podcasts. I make important stories interesting.

NOW: LAIST STUDIOS | SENIOR PRODUCER | SEPT '21 – PRESENT

I work with a small team of editors, producers, and reporters to develop narrative journalism podcasts that illustrate the reality behind the California dream. I edit and write scripts, host, report, coach producers and project manage multiple seasons of the podcast Imperfect Paradise.

ALSO: LAIST STUDIOS | HOST OF "CALIFORNIA CITY" PODCAST

I reported, wrote, and hosted the nine-part investigative narrative podcast California City, about a 60 year-long real estate scam in the Mojave Desert. My reporting resulted in criminal charges, a state fraud investigation, and helped hundreds of victims understand what happened to them.

PREVIOUSLY: LAist 89.3 | SENIOR REPORTER | L.A. | MAY '16 – SEPT '21

I reported on climate change and the environment for LA's NPR station (formerly KPCC). My reporting influenced policy, won national journalism awards, asked hard questions, and introduced you to fascinating people.

EARLIER: INSIDE ENERGY | REPORTER | BISMARCK, ND | JUNE '14 – MAY '16

I went deep into North Dakota's oil boom to tell audio and print stories about the people at the heart of a modern-day gold rush. I exposed oil industry influence on a state museum, documented mysterious worker fatalities and investigated how oilfield spills are reported. My stories aired frequently on NPR and Marketplace.

EVEN EARLIER: HIGH COUNTRY NEWS | CORRESPONDENT | PAONIA, CO | JULY '12 – AUG. '14

As a magazine writer based in a town of 1200, I told stories by and for the people of the rural West. I wrote everything from news analysis to deeply-reported feature stories.

WAY BACK: THE FORECASTER | REPORTER | FALMOUTH, ME | DECEMBER 2011 – MARCH 2012

Covered two small towns in Maine for a weekly newspaper. I balanced weekly stories on city council, school board and local elections with investigative and enterprise reporting.

SKILLS: Audio recording and editing in Adobe Audition. Podcast production and project management. Highly proficient in Spanish.

AWARDS:

Nominee for Ambie Award for Best Documentary Podcast (2021) | National Edward R. Murrow award in hard news (2019) | Finalist for Daniel Schorr Prize (2017) | Four regional Murrow awards in hard news, investigative reporting and video (2015, 2019, 2020)

EDUCATION: BOWDOIN COLLEGE, BRUNSWICK, ME | PHILLIPS ACADEMY, ANDOVER, MA